

Chart of the day

Companies with higher board gender diversity perform stronger on climate action

Percentage of companies that fully or partially meet criteria

Sources: BoardReady; A Bird's Eye View Limited
© FT

As companies transition towards net zero, BoardReady, a boardroom research advisory, analysed 159 global companies to see if board diversity could drive corporate action on climate change. Companies with more gender diversity were more likely to show stronger performance in eight of nine climate disclosure indicators.